Bio for Robert C. Holt III

Bob Holt is a graduate of the University of Missouri with a BS in Education / Paleobotany. He received a ROTC commission in the US ARMY in Armor and served during the Viet Nam conflict. After teaching life science for two years in Kirkwood, MO., Bob became a photo lab technician at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Rising through the ranks first as a photojournalist, photo editor, make-up editor and director of photography, Bob was named director of imaging technology for the Pulitzer Publishing Company in 1981. Based in editorial and with tenures in pressroom, plate room, engraving, composing and advertising departments, Bob defined and directed the evolution of the newspaper into deadline-sensitive full color offset printing as well as full-page color pagination.

A five-time Pulitzer Nominee for photojournalism, Bob has been awarded numerous awards from MLB and the NFL. Bob was US Army Reserve Photographer of the Year in 1975.

Hired in 1989 by Scitex Corporation, Herzelia, Israel , Bob served as international director of industry marketing for news publishers both newspapers and magazines. Under his direction the news publishing division grew from $.05M annual revenues to $54M annually. Bob managed the worldwide news publishing efforts and guiding the acquisitions of Leaf Systems and P.Ink GMBH.

Bob served as vp of sales and marketing for MPI / Pentawave a company based in Scottsdale, AZ selling web based product for e-commerce to the publishing industry.

Bob served as vp of sales / marketing / product development for VanGennep MAC in Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

Since 1997, Bob runs his own consulting company working with publishing companies, universities and the New England Newspaper Press Association (NENPA). Bob is a perennial Photojournalism judge and speaker on Photojournalism for NENPA in Boston. Over his career, Bob has judged photojournalism contests in Missouri, Iowa and New York.
